Peace

Constructive Program

- Peacekeeping (unarmed civilians)
- Peacemaking (creative dispute resolution)
- Peacemaking hunger (ending world hunger)

Democracy and Social Justice

- Restorative justice (replace the prison industrial complex)
- Nonviolent leadership models
- Functioning democratic institutions

Some Strategic Guidelines

- Practice nonviolence in deed, word, and as far as possible even thought.
- Be constructive wherever possible, obstructive when necessary
- Focus on "keystone" issues that will really leverage change
- Don't rely too much on symbols: be concrete wherever possible (the Salt March was about real salt!)

How to Use this Model

This flow from the personal to the political is important but not necessarily chronological.

- Locate your project(s) on the map; sense your solidarity with everyone in this work
- Never neglect your own development
- Think of constructive alternatives first and then:
- Address all conflicts through creative nonviolence.

Helping people practice nonviolence safely and effectively, and working toward a nonviolent culture.
